RECOMMENDATION

Makroterm is a market leader of home heating solutions using renewable energy. Integrated Heating systems manufactured by the company allow for cost-efficient use of energy from fireplace, solar thermal collector or gas boiler. The company has carried out extensive research and development work which resulted in numerous patent solutions improving operation of home heating systems.

In the second half of 2012, the works associated with deploying in the company Comarch ERP Mobile Vendor for Android platform, as a natural development of then-current Comarch ERP XL installation, were in progress. The application is fully integrated with Comarch ERP XL system, owing to which the data is uploaded directly from the ERP system.

Intuitiveness of the application enabled fast deployment of the application for Sales Representatives. The possibility of previewing images of offered products as well as complete information about items contribute to better relations with our customers. Fast and intuitive operation significantly facilitated the work of Sales Representatives, which translates directly into real increase in Makroterm competitiveness.

We definitely recommend Comarch ERP Mobile Vendor application for Android platform as an efficient tool supporting Sales Representatives.
