Our sales representatives take particular care about effective cooperation with clients and a professionally developed logistics ensures efficient processing of deliveries to our Clients.

In 2013, Rudmar company decided to deploy the solution of Comarch company dedicated to Android platform for mobile sales representatives. We already decided much sooner to change a previously used ERP software to Comarch ERP XL, which enabled us to have greater control, among others, over stock levels, document flow, complaints from clients, etc.

After changing the application and switching to Android platform, the application performance has improved considerably, which allows sales representatives to work more effectively and offers enhanced comfort of work.

Applying of the leading platform for mobile applications has considerably extended the possibility of choosing the right devices for greater convenience and speed of work.

The ergonomics of user interface has also improved significantly, which offers greater possibilities than the interface previously used in Windows version.

Comarch ERP Mobile Sales allowed us to streamline simply the work of sales representatives, which shortly translated into speed of customer service and satisfaction of our clients.
